

ABSTRACT

A device for use in an audio signal processing system, the device having at least one operating member
5 for processing an audio signal; and a vibration transmission circuit connected to the operating member to distribute undesired vibration in controlled manner.
(Figure 2)